

SUPPORT SOLDIERS RESISTING THE IRAQ WAR

The military and their recruiters make a lot of promises to potential recruits including money for college, signing bonuses, prestige, and the opportunity to serve one's country. However, they don't mention that a growing number of soldiers are resisting the Iraq War:

More than 1,700 soldiers have signed a petition titled "An Appeal for Redress from the War in Iraq" calling for Congress to support the "prompt withdrawal" of all American forces in Iraq.

US Army 1st Lt. Ehren Watada stepped forward as the first commissioned officer to publicly refuse deployment to the Iraq. He faces court martial and up to 6 years imprisonment for his refusal to deploy and for speaking out against a war that he believes is illegal (www.thankyoult.org).

Spc. Swift, facing redeployment to Iraq while serving under the command of the same individuals that allowed her to be raped and sexually harassed, suffered a breakdown due to PTSD, and went absent without leave rather than subject herself to the horrors she experienced during her first tour of duty.

If you or someone you know needs help getting out of the military, call the GI Rights Hotline at 1-800-394-9544 (overseas 215-563-4620).

FOR MORE INFO, VISIT WWW.ACTIVATEGR.ORG

SUPPORT SOLDIERS RESISTING THE IRAQ WAR

The military and their recruiters make a lot of promises to potential recruits including money for college, signing bonuses, prestige, and the opportunity to serve one's country. However, they don't mention that a growing number of soldiers are resisting the Iraq War:

More than 1,700 soldiers have signed a petition titled "An Appeal for Redress from the War in Iraq" calling for Congress to support the "prompt withdrawal" of all American forces in Iraq.

US Army 1st Lt. Ehren Watada stepped forward as the first commissioned officer to publicly refuse deployment to the Iraq. He faces court martial and up to 6 years imprisonment for his refusal to deploy and for speaking out against a war that he believes is illegal (www.thankyoult.org).

Spc. Swift, facing redeployment to Iraq while serving under the command of the same individuals that allowed her to be raped and sexually harassed, suffered a breakdown due to PTSD, and went absent without leave rather than subject herself to the horrors she experienced during her first tour of duty.

If you or someone you know needs help getting out of the military, call the GI Rights Hotline at 1-800-394-9544 (overseas 215-563-4620).

FOR MORE INFO, VISIT WWW.ACTIVATEGR.ORG

SUPPORT SOLDIERS RESISTING THE IRAQ WAR

The military and their recruiters make a lot of promises to potential recruits including money for college, signing bonuses, prestige, and the opportunity to serve one's country. However, they don't mention that a growing number of soldiers are resisting the Iraq War:

More than 1,700 soldiers have signed a petition titled "An Appeal for Redress from the War in Iraq" calling for Congress to support the "prompt withdrawal" of all American forces in Iraq.

US Army 1st Lt. Ehren Watada stepped forward as the first commissioned officer to publicly refuse deployment to the Iraq. He faces court martial and up to 6 years imprisonment for his refusal to deploy and for speaking out against a war that he believes is illegal (www.thankyoult.org).

Spc. Swift, facing redeployment to Iraq while serving under the command of the same individuals that allowed her to be raped and sexually harassed, suffered a breakdown due to PTSD, and went absent without leave rather than subject herself to the horrors she experienced during her first tour of duty.

If you or someone you know needs help getting out of the military, call the GI Rights Hotline at 1-800-394-9544 (overseas 215-563-4620).

FOR MORE INFO, VISIT WWW.ACTIVATEGR.ORG

SUPPORT SOLDIERS RESISTING THE IRAQ WAR

The military and their recruiters make a lot of promises to potential recruits including money for college, signing bonuses, prestige, and the opportunity to serve one's country. However, they don't mention that a growing number of soldiers are resisting the Iraq War:

More than 1,700 soldiers have signed a petition titled "An Appeal for Redress from the War in Iraq" calling for Congress to support the "prompt withdrawal" of all American forces in Iraq.

US Army 1st Lt. Ehren Watada stepped forward as the first commissioned officer to publicly refuse deployment to the Iraq. He faces court martial and up to 6 years imprisonment for his refusal to deploy and for speaking out against a war that he believes is illegal (www.thankyoult.org).

Spc. Swift, facing redeployment to Iraq while serving under the command of the same individuals that allowed her to be raped and sexually harassed, suffered a breakdown due to PTSD, and went absent without leave rather than subject herself to the horrors she experienced during her first tour of duty.

If you or someone you know needs help getting out of the military, call the GI Rights Hotline at 1-800-394-9544 (overseas 215-563-4620).

FOR MORE INFO, VISIT WWW.ACTIVATEGR.ORG